Welcome

Hello! Welcome to our first newsletter for this school year! It's been such a fun half-term and we have been busy too. We met an author called Alex Bellos. We found out he helped write Pele's autobiography! We celebrated Mental Health Day by wearing yellow, when we were all in assembly it looked so sunny and it made everyone smile. The day after we had a Black History Month afternoon and every year learnt about someone different and wrote about them. In Year 3 we learnt about Walter Tull who was a famous footballer and became the first black officer in the British army. One of our favourite days was when Year 3 to Year 6 had a lesson all about skipping. We learnt lots of tricks like hopping and criss-crossing and we are all skipping in the playground, we got to teach Year 1 and 2 what we learnt. It was so fun! On our last day we're going to have a Day of Sports, we cannot wait to go against our teachers.

Have a nice half-term! (Amelia and Louise – Year 3)

EYFS

"We do good listening and we learn." (Akbar, R)

"We wrote these rules so we respect it."
(Aysam, R)

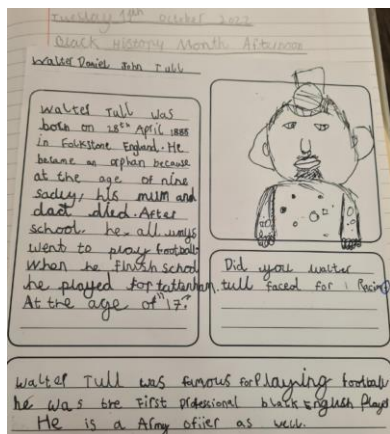

KS1

On Mental Health Awareness Day we all wore yellow, I even had yellow hair and sunflower bows. I felt really sunny and we all looked bright. We went for a treasure hunt to look for some yellow things our teachers hid.

LKS2

On Black History Month we learnt about Walter Tull. He was resilient because although his dad died when he was 9 he still worked hard to make his dream come true which was to be famous footballer. He played for Tottenham which is my teacher's favourite team. He also joined the British army and was an officer. It made me want to work hard so my dream can come true. (Tamia, Y3)

RRSA news:

In our first half-term as Rights Respecting Ambassadors...

- We made a suggestion box so everyone has a say, we are also thinking of putting another one upstairs soon. We will look at the suggestions of all the children next half-term and make decisions. Our questions change every two weeks for the box. Our next topic will be the playground.
- We held a uniform sale, thanks to everyone who donated and bought.
- We are now officially a Bronze: Rights Committed school!

Thank you for the evidence towards the first stage of the Unicef UK's Rights Respecting Schools Award.

Congratulations I am very happy to award you with Bronze: Rights Committed
